MR. BATEMAN begs to announce that the above new and spacious ciffice will be opened to the public on the evening of October 31. During Mr. Bateman's visit to Europe he was enabled to enter into such arrangements with those who have the chief direction of musical maters abroad as will appear to the New York public the leading attractions of the day.

Notwithstanding the unbounded success and great popularity achieved by Madame Pareps and the commendations lavished upon her gifted young coadjutor Carl Ross, the youthful violinist, &c., Mr. Bateman resolved to increase the attractions of his concerts by adding strength to strength. He, therefore, at a great expense has for this season secured the services of Signor Brignoll, the favorite tenor, whose reappearance in this city after an absence of two years will undoubtedly afford much grainfeation to a public by whom Signor Ferranti, and the pleasing barione Signor Fortuna.

The names of the vocal artists engaged guarantee that in this department the entertainment will be in all respects of the very highest order. In the instrumental department Hr, Bateman is also certain that he has consulted the wishes of the public and the unterests of art by engaging Mr. S. B. Mills, the celebrated planist, whose well known mastery over his instrument enables him in classic and other pieces not merely to astonish but to delight his auditors. He has also secured the valuable services of Mr. J. L. Hatton, the Artists previously named, viz.
